

Epilogue 4

Retaliation -2 The Io Research Facility incident.

The newly formed Space Marine squad has been alerted to a situation on Io, a moon of Jupiter. It has become apparent that the Io research facility run by the corporation Mega-Corp has recently gone "Off the map". The facility is neither sending or receiving any communications and all traffic at the facility has ceased. The Space Marines have their first mission, go in and find out what's going on, and if there are any Intruders, waste every last one of them.

Set up a standard game of Nemesis Retaliation with a Contractor in play and the Alternative Queen. The Contractor is the winning Survivor of the Campaign the Road to Nemesis and is advantaged by starting the game with the first choice of Starting Equipment.

Your mission is to kill all Intruders and for at least one Space marine to survive.

If the Contractor encounters The Queen during the game please turn the page, otherwise the Campaign Ends at the conclusion of this game of Retaliation.

UNLESS THE CONTRACTOR HAS ENCOUNTERED THE QUEEN

Queen encounter

The creature standing before you is huge , at least ten times that of a man, as your eyes come accustomed to the things proportions your gaze is naturally drawn to the head, where you see eyes that reflect no emotion just an alien desire to kill, eyes that fix on you as the target for sharpened talons that extend towards you.

Your heart rate accelerates to dangerous levels while you're already strained lungs attempt to pump more vital oxygen into your blood. Fumbling your equipment to ensure you can get a hit of pure oxygen you feel the initial tremors of an oncoming psychogenic shock.....

4

Lose 1 health point.

Lose 1 Oxygen

If the Contractor survives this encounter it will be with the justifiable pride that he did all he could to prevent this terrible threat to humanity by thwarting the greed motivated choices of the CEO and his Executive Team. You have helped enable the Space Marines Corp to do it's job and you are going to do your darndest to help them dish out some more retaliation.

The END of The Road To Retaliation