

The Road to Retaliation

The Road to Retaliation

Queen Encounter

The creature standing before you is enormous—at least ten times the size of a man. As your eyes adjust to its impossible proportions, your gaze is drawn instinctively toward its head.

Its eyes betray no emotion. No hesitation. No fear.

Only an alien, predatory desire to kill.

Those eyes lock onto you as its sharpened talons extend in your direction.

Your heart rate surges to dangerous levels. Your already-strained lungs struggle to draw enough oxygen into your bloodstream. Fumbling desperately with your equipment, you fight to secure a precious hit of pure oxygen.

Then you feel it—the first tremors of an approaching psychogenic trauma.

Lose 1 Health Point.

Lose 1 Oxygen.

If the Contractor survives this encounter, they can take justifiable pride in knowing they did everything within their power to prevent this terrible threat to humanity. By thwarting the greed-driven decisions of the CEO and his Executive Team, you have helped prevent an even greater catastrophe.

You have also bought the Space Marine Corps the opportunity to do what they do best.

And you intend to help them deliver a little more retaliation.

Return to the game. The campaign ends at the conclusion of this game of Nemesis: Retaliation.