The Road to Retaliation

Sleepers Epilogue

The Sleepers Personal Log 001

“The journey back aboard the corvette was without further incident, in fact I knew nothing of it and awoke to find myself on a Quarantine Division space station in Earth geostationary orbit”.

“ I heard from the extraction team that got me out of Mother that I was a priority job, me and the Corporations CEO, after that it got just too hairy and the decision was clear Mother was put on self destruct.....boom. That the end of those alien fucks and the son of a bitch who was going to exploit them is in for some tough questioning and then....who knows.”

“And now? Well, I am undergoing a pretty severe quarantine process, stripped naked and housed in a quarantine chambers, each of which is stuffed full of sensors, microphones and cameras. I reckon my blood has been replaced at least four times but I don't care I just want to make sure I am not infected with any of that alien junk”.

“And when this is over I am going on a mission, a mission that will probably mean kicking some alien butt. But hey as they say in the movies “Pay back's a bitch””.

Congratulations you are the winner of The Road to Retaliation.

Retaliation Mission 1 Mars Attack

The Sleepers Personal Log 002

I had just gotten out of quarantine and was reflecting on how close I had been to buying it when a sergeant from the newly formed Space Marine Corp interrupted my chow time.

“This is it, reckon it’s the big one, the squad needs you so grab your gear we’re moving out we got a mission to Mars”.

The Road to Retaliation

Retaliation -1: Mars Attack

The newly formed Space Marine squad has been alerted to a situation on Mars. It has become apparent that a space port has recently gone “off the map”. The port is neither sending nor receiving any communications, and all traffic at the facility has ceased. On being briefed the Sleeper confirms that the spaceport in question is located close to the destroyed Corporation Martian Facility-B, no surprise it looks like something survived.

Something with teeth and claws and an endless hunger.

The Space Marines have their first mission: go in and find out what’s going on, and if there are any Intruders, waste every last one of them.

Set up a standard game of Nemesis: Retaliation with a Contractor in play and the Alternative Queen. The Contractor is The Sleeper and is advantaged by starting the game with the first choice of Starting Equipment.

Your mission is to kill all Intruders and ensure that at least one of the Space Marine Team survives.

If the Contractor encounters the Queen during the game, please download the file Epilogue 5 Game Event. Otherwise, the campaign ends at the conclusion of this game of Nemesis Retaliation.
